Innovative products reducing the risk of foreign object contamination.

This heavy duty, spring retracting key reel features a stainless steel casing, belt clip, cord and split ring, with internal components also made from other metals.

This product is manufactured specifically for environments where “due diligence” must be shown in the prevention of foreign body product contamination. The cord has a pulling strength of 120g and is manufactured from 1mm stainless steel, with a 24” / 60cm length. A larger option with a 120cm cord is also available.
